In an English Country Garden (key of C)
(traditional English folk song, ~1728)

How many kinds of sweet flowers grow, in an English country garden?
I'll tell you now of some that I know, and those I miss you'll surely pardon.
Daffo-dils, heart's ease and phlox, meadow-sweet and lilies, stocks.
Gen-tian, Lupin and tall Holly-hocks, Roses.

Fox-gloves, Snow-drops, For-get-me-nots, in an English country garden.
A----------------------------------------
E--0--1--3-------------1--0--1--0--
C------------------0--2-------------2--0--
G----------------------------------------

How many insects come here and go, through our English country garden?
I'll tell you now of some that I know, and those I miss you'll surely pardon.
Fire-flies, moths and bees, spiders climbing in the trees.
Butter-flies that sway on the cool, gentle breeze. There are
Snakes, ants that sting, and other creeping things, in an English country garden.
A----------------------------------------
E--0--1--3-------------1--0--1--0--
C------------------0--2-------------2--0--
G----------------------------------------
How many song-birds fly to and fro, through our English country gar--ar-ar-den?
I'll tell you now of some that I know, and those I miss you'll surely par--ar-ar-den
Bobo-link, cuck--oo and quail, tana-ger and car-di-nal
Blue--bird, lark, thrush and nighting-gale. There is
Joy in the spring, when the birds begin to sing, in an English country gar--ar-ar-den

San Jose Ukulele Club
(v2b - 4/8/17)